HOTFIX 50p-v2.1.1

OCTOBER 11, 2026

Although there has been a robust landscape following the August 16, 2026 update, a few pilots have been overperforming and are reducing the diversity of the game. In response to these trends and community feedback, we've made adjustments to lightly temper these pilots to bring them in line with the rest of the field and promote greater variety.

IG88s (IG-2000)

We feel the combined popularity and performance of these pilots warranted an adjustment to their squad point cost, while maintaining suitable Loadout Value (LV) options for a multitude of builds. These adjusted values will now reflect the strength of these pilots more accurately.

IG88A	17 +1	22 -
IG88B	16 +1	20 -
IG88C	16 +1	20 -
IG88D	15 +1	18 -

Boba Fett (Firespray [Scum]):

Boba has long been a powerhouse in the game. Enabled by a powerful chassis and excellent ability, this pilot can often feel oppressive with difficult-to-employ counterplay. Increasing the squad point cost to better reflect his power would further restrict choice and diversity in squad building. Instead, we've decided to address the root cause of the issue by removing the Crew slot while reducing Boba's cost to compensate. This should encourage supportive combinations and a more methodical approach to use Boba effectively.

Boba Fett	20 -1	20 -

Marauder

This title routinely sees more play than all other titles on this platform and has now been adjusted to reflect its power.

Marauder	2 +2

Adi Gallia (Delta 7b Aethersprite):

Various Jedi-centric lists have been performing quite well. However, Adi Gallia's popularity and performance in these lists have been consistently high. To better reflect her value and encourage choices within these lists, Adi has been adjusted through increased squad point cost and LV.

Adi Gallia 7b	14 +1	9 +2